The directors of the Washington Board of Trade held an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon at headquarters, and went over in a general way the business for the ensuing year. The meeting was well attended and developed a large degree of interest in the special objects which the board will attempt to achieve.

The election of E. C. Graham, as director, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of B. H. Warner, was effected, and President Rudolph announced the members of the executive committee, to serve one year.

Held a Discussion.

The directors entered upon a discussion of this topic, expressing a variety of views upon the subject, but all of a harmonious nature. The matter was not before the meeting in a formal way, and no definite action was taken. Several specific matters were brought forward and briefly considered. President Rudolph stated that he would soon have the committees of the board in working shape, and that the topics brought up would be referred to them for appropriate action.

PRESIDENT FRAMES MESSAGE.

May Ask Congress to Amend Sherman Antitrust Law.

The President has nearly completed his annual message, which will be sent to Congress upon its convening, and the last sheet will be in the hands of the printer by all probability within the next day or two.

Before the President returned to Washington from Oyster Bay he wrote the greater part of his message, but there were certain things that naturally had to be left until a later date. It is uncertain to what extent, if any, the President has modified his recommendations in regard to the regulation of corporations as originally drafted in the message. It is certain that he favors the repeal of, or radical amendment of, the Sherman antitrust law, but it is well understood now that he desires this change not because it is generally too radical, but because it does not permit reasonable traffic arrangements among railroads.

NATIONAL UNIVERSITY.

Recommended by State Universities Association.

That a national university should be established in Washington was the opinion expressed by the delegates attending the convention of the Association of State Universities, at the meeting at the Shoreham Hotel yesterday afternoon. The recommendation was made by a joint committee of the association and the proposed university was supported by the government and that it should serve as a post graduate school of all the colleges maintained by the States. The recommendation was adopted.

RAPS SCHOOL BOARD

Dr. Chancellor Says It Has Wasted Public Funds.

HE ACCUSES MR. EVERMANN

Refers Scathingly to Alleged Unauthorized Actions of the latter, and Says that He Is Being Attacked Through Personal Antagonism. He Will Demand a Fair Trial.

"An investigation will show that certain members of the board of education have wasted the public funds without authority. It will also show that a certain member of the board, in the matter of purchasing books, has, without authority of law, purchased books and caused regulations to be issued for the payment thereof, and has deceived the board as to the parties from whom these books were purchased, by representing to the board that he purchased the books from a concern which had been out of existence for at least one year prior to the purchase of the books."

Dr. William E. Chancellor, through his attorneys, Fulton, Leckie, & Cox, made this statement last night. The position of the board of education and some few of its individual members on the present controversy was severely scored. The reference is made to Fred. Barton W. Evermann, vice and acting president of the board, and the statement of the superintendent's attorneys goes on to say: "He (Dr. Chancellor) also contends that said member, without authority of the board, issued to the secretary, and through him to the entire clerical force of the board, an order forbidding them to comply with any instructions of the superintendent without express permission of the president of the board."

Charge Personal Spite.

"The foundation of the whole fabric of charges rests upon the personal antagonism of certain members of the board to the superintendent. He contends that if a thorough and impartial investigation can be had, it will be fully established that the board has violated the law creating it, and has repeatedly interfered with the administration of the business of the superintendent; that members of the board have sought by threats and intimidation to dictate how he should discharge his duties, and whom he should nominate for various positions in the schools, and that on his refusal to accept such dictation they threatened to antagonize him in the discharge of his official duties; and this is, in part, the cause of the antagonism alleged in the charges."

DR. CHANCELLOR FAVORED.

German Societies Indorse Action of Superintendent.

"Be it resolved, That we the United German Societies, representing the sentiments and interests of the German-American citizens of the District of Columbia, being solicitous for the welfare of our children and of the education system, do hereby ask: "That Dr. William E. Chancellor be retained in his position as superintendent of schools; and that he be allowed to proceed with the establishment of classes in German and Latin in the seventh and eighth grades of our public schools."

This resolution was unanimously passed at a meeting last night in Bessette's Hall of the United German Societies, which was called by President Kurt Voelckner for the purpose of ascertaining the attitude of the twenty-one societies composing the United German Societies, on the present school matter, and the question of discontinuing the teaching of German and Latin in the graded schools.

The Senate Committee on Military Affairs, which has been conducting an investigation of the "shooting up" of Brownsville in August, 1906, for which three companies of colored soldiers were dismissed by the President, yesterday decided to summon two additional witnesses. These were George Connor, chief of police of Brownsville at the time of the raid, and Louis A. Jago, a resident of that town, who is supposed to know something about the affair.

The committee adjourned until next Tuesday, when the two witnesses will be heard. After the two reports—a majority report finding the shooting was done by colored soldiers and a minority report to the contrary—will be prepared for presentation to the Senate.

WOULD REGULATE RAILWAY

Northeast Citizens Discuss Abolition of B. & O. Crossing.

Commissioner Macfarland Delivers Address in Which He Commends the Association.

That the Commissioners of the District must have greater powers to regulate street railways and other utility corporations in the District, is the opinion of Commissioner Macfarland as expressed by him in an address at the jubilee meeting of the Northeast Washington Citizens' Association, at Northeast Temple, Twelfth and H streets northeast, last night.

The meeting was in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the association and the abolition of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crossing in the northeast section of the city. Mr. Macfarland was the chief speaker. He congratulated the association for its many services to the city during the fifteen years, or over half the period of the present form of government. In the past seven years, he said, he had worked with the association and could testify to its zeal, ability, and industry.

William J. Frizzell, first president of the association and chairman of the committee of arrangements, presided and delivered the opening address. He outlined the origin of the organization and spoke of the early settlement in the northeast section of the city. The chief objection, he said, had been the conduct of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, in its violation of laws, regulations, and rules governing speed limits of trains.

E. L. Tucker, president of the association, outlined the many improvements in the northeast section of the city through the untiring efforts of the organization. He took up the work done by the several standing committees and said the committee on railroads made the first step to abolish railroad crossings by presenting to Congress, through Senator Sherman, a bill for that purpose. This ultimately resulted in the building of the new union station, he said.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Tuesday, Nov. 19, 1907.—The Eastern District has rather cool and fair weather, prevailing Tuesday in the Atlantic States. Another disturbance is central over extreme Southern Texas, and this, with the remnants of the late disturbance of the last night, has caused general rain in the Lower Mississippi Valley, the West Gulf States, Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, with some snow in the Texas Panhandle. There is a still further disturbance of the weather, extending to the Pacific Coast, but without precipitation east of the mountains. In the Lake region, in the South it is probable that the weather will be fair Thursday, while in the Northwest it will be cloudy Wednesday and Thursday, with rain or snow on Friday.

It is considerably colder along the South Atlantic coast and warmer in the Northwest. As a rule, however, temperatures are not abnormal, except in the Central Rocky Mountain region, where they are 12 to 20 degrees below the seasonal average. The Southwest disturbance will move northeastward during Wednesday, causing rain in the Gulf States, the central valleys, and North Atlantic States, and rain or snow in New England and the Lake region. In the South it is probable that the weather will be fair Thursday, while in the Northwest it will be cloudy Wednesday and Thursday, with rain or snow on Friday.

It will be colder Wednesday in Texas and warmer in the Northwest, except Northern Montana, and coldness in the Northwest generally. The winds along the New England coast will be fresh northeasterly; on the Middle Atlantic coast light to fresh north to northeast; on the South Atlantic coast fresh northeasterly, possibly brisk Wednesday night; on the East Gulf coast fresh to brisk easterly, becoming variable by Thursday; on the Gulf of Mexico coast fresh to strong easterly; on the Lower Lakes coast fresh to strong easterly; on the Upper Lakes coast to southeast, slowly increasing. Storms developing in the Atlantic and Gulf ports will have fresh northeasterly winds with fair weather to the West.

STORM WARNING.
